

STUDENT LEARNING CONFERENCES

Parent / Guardian FAQs

Student Learning Conferences provide many opportunities for student growth by:

- engaging students in goal-setting, self-assessment, and reflection
- encouraging students to be active participants in their own learning
- opening up dialogue between parents, students, and teachers
- deepening understanding about the student's experience while in class
- cultivating relationships between students and teachers that foster a sense of belonging

What can I expect?

At the conference, the teacher will invite the student to share their insight on a specific piece of work or their learning in general. There will also be an opportunity for parents, teachers, and the student to share insights about learning goals and skills.

How will it work if I have multiple children at HDCH?

The library will be open for students to spend time in and grab snacks while parents are involved in a conference with a sibling.

What if I would like to have a private conversation with the teacher?

Please attend the conference with your child, and then connect with the teacher over Edsby or email to set up an alternate time to meet privately.

What if my child is unable to attend?

Our hope is that students and parents will come together, but if students are unable to come, we encourage parents to participate.

How can I prepare?

Check Edsby for updates on your child's school work and bring in any specific questions you may have for the teacher or for your child.

How do I book our time?

Sign-up through Edsby.
Log in and watch for the link on "Student Learning Conferences."
Click on the link to sign up.

As always, contact our office with any questions.
